

Laughing Stock winemaker David Enns with vineyard manager Cynthia Enns, on their property overlooking Okanagan Lake.

British Columbians adore their homegrown wines. So much so in fact that, over the years, little of it has made its way out of the province for Ontarians to enjoy. But production among smaller, often family-owned wineries has increased steadily, and VINTAGES has acquired some of this bounty. Meet five talented BC producers and their wines, most available through VINTAGES for the first time ever.